

Using Baltic Exchange Data for Settlement

The Baltic Exchange publishes daily assessments for the dry bulk and tanker freight markets which are widely used by shipowners, traders and charterers. On occasion Baltic data is referenced inside contracts. When used in this way, counterparties are required to have a valid Baltic Data licence for the entire duration of the contract. This includes, but is not limited to, Time and Voyage Charterparties, Contracts of Affreightment and FFA agreements that are not given up for clearing. Both counterparties are required to have a valid Baltic Data licence.

Baltic Data is based on assessments made by Panellist Brokers. One of the ways to obtain a Baltic Data licence is to nominate a Baltic Panellist Broker in the contract.
